

'Feelings Graph'

Character emotions in a story often change. You can plot those emotional changes like the example here. Choose a character from your favourite story and plot their emotions throughout the story.

For an extension, can you plot another character's emotion over the top to show how they link together?

