

Spring Day 5	LT: To write for a particular purpose
Success Criteria	Pupil	Teacher
I can use sentence punctuation correctly
I can include the necessary facts
I can write in a formal style

Elaboration paragraphs are how the writer gives more information on the facts given in the orientation paragraph e.g.

The reader gives a breakdown, chronologically, of the event described in the orientation and does not use description to the same level or the same purpose as in a narrative. Using the WAGOLL to help you, write the elaboration paragraph for the orientation about the discovery of the death of King Duncan you wrote in the previous lesson.
